

soUNDFont call for submissions:

On a rolling basis, HELPINGER Projects will release soUNDFonts on the soUNDFont Portal.

We invite you to submit your soUNDFonts to contact@soundundtext.com.

But first, what is a soUNDFont!?

A soUNDFont is a collection of 95 soUND files that soUNDtext reads to translate visual characters (the standard English keyboard) into soUND characters. These 95 soUND files are contained in a soUNDFont folder.

More information on soUNDFonts and how to make a soUNDFont can be found in the soUNDtext User's Manual available with your soUNDtext free download (67 MB direct download) and as a PDF and in print here.

Check back at soundtext.wordpress.com in the next few weeks for a video tutorial on how to make a soUNDFont. For now, see the soUNDFonts video to explore the dynamics of the soUNDFonts already made.

A few specifics:

1. Please direct all submissions, questions, and queries to contact@soundundtext.com
2. soUNDFonts will be posted on the soUNDFont Portal. Contributors will be given full credit for their soUNDFont and will obtain any sort of license (copyright or Creative Commons) desired.
3. Deadline: None. We will accept submissions at any time.
